Extract from General Conditions of Sales (October 2018):

Under the guarantee, the only obligation incumbent on the vendor will be the free replacement of the original goods recognized as defective by the vendor's services. This warranty shall only apply to malfunctions that may appear during the warranty period.

Defects and damage caused by natural wear and tear or by external accidents (incorrect assembly, faulty maintenance, abnormal use, etc.) or by a modification of the product that was not planned or specified by the vendor are excluded from the guarantee. Similarly, the guarantee will not apply to conspicuous defects for which the purchaser will have to rely on the conditions of Article 17 "COMPLAINTS AND RETURNS".

The product warranty shall not extend the original date or guarantee and does not extend the warranty period.

The guarantee is effective only after full payment of the sums due. The claim that there are defects does not exempt the purchaser from paying the price due.
